

IMPACT OF GOND BHIL BAIGA FOLK ARTS ON SOCIETY: A STUDY

<sup>1</sup>Sunny Sharma, <sup>2</sup>Dr. Pooja Gupta

<sup>1</sup> Research Scholar, <sup>2</sup>Research Guide

<sup>1</sup>Fine Arts Department

<sup>1</sup>Swami Vivekanand Subharti University, Meerut, INDIA

Abstract: The folk art of the Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities is an important part of Indian cultural heritage. The art of these communities influences their social, cultural, and economic life. It reflects their geographical, cultural, and social conditions and presents their history, religious rituals, and lifestyle. The folk art of these communities stimulates the local economy, promotes social harmony, and preserves cultural heritage. Additionally, it enhances the self-esteem and pride of the communities and makes them feel proud of their heritage.

Index Terms - Folk Art, Madhya Pradesh, Traditional Art, Cultural Heritage, Theatre, Gond, Bhil and Baiga Folk Art: Responsibilities in Social, Cultural, and Economic Beliefs

I. INTRODUCTION

India is a country that is famous for its cultural diversity, and this diversity has importance for every section and community of the society. Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities are also an important part of this diversity, and their folk art makes it even more rich and colorful. Firstly, the folk art of these communities is an important indicator of their cultural identity. The folk art of the Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities reflects their history, traditions, and communal values. These arts are a symbol of pride and greeting of their community. Secondly, the folk art of these communities promotes social harmony and unity. The arts of the Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities bring together people from different classes and castes of the society, thereby developing collective feelings. Thirdly, the folk art of these communities also encourages economic development. People of Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities often earn livelihood through their arts, thereby improving their economic condition. Additionally, the folk art of these communities reflects various dimensions of Indian culture. This diversity and difference unites the Indian society and promotes cultural empowerment. In conclusion, the folk art of Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities is of immense importance to the Indian society. It is a reflection of their uniqueness, richness, and cultural diversity, which plays an important role in building a prosperous and harmonious society.

In the Indian cultural heritage, the folk art of the Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities holds an important place. The importance of the arts of these communities can be seen in the broader social, cultural, and economic beliefs.

Social beliefs: The folk art of Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities promotes harmony, unity and cooperation in the society. These arts reflect the experiences, relationships, and communication of community members, thereby strengthening the self-confidence and unity of the society.

Cultural Beliefs: The folk art of these communities strengthens their cultural identity. The arts of the Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities reflect their history, traditions, and tribal lifestyle. Through these arts the characteristics and diversity of the community are understood and help in preserving it.

Economic Assumptions: The folk art of Gond, Bhil and Baiga communities improves their economic condition. These communities often earn a living through their arts, which helps their economic development. Through these arts, they get employment opportunities, help in their production and selling. In conclusion, the folk art of Gond, Bhil and Beg communities plays a role in the social, cultural, and economic values. These arts play an important role in building a prosperous and harmonious society and help these communities feel proud of their distinctiveness and cultural heritage.

II. OBJECTIVE

- Promotion of collectivity and harmony: The folk art of these communities is the main objective of prosperous collectivity and harmony.
- Preservation of cultural heritage: Preservation and dissemination of folk art of these communities can be the objective of maintaining cultural heritage.
- Enrichment of local economy: The folk art of these communities aims to enrich the local economy.
- Development of self-confidence of society members: Through folk art, community members try to boost their self-confidence.

III. THE SOCIAL IMPACT OF FOLK ART OF GOND, BHIL AND BAIGA COMMUNITIES IS ESPECIALLY

Collectivism and Harmony: The folk art of these communities promotes collectivism and harmony in the community, which keeps people, connected with each other and strengthens social bonds.

Preservation of traditional heritage: These communities preserve their traditional folk art, thereby strengthening their heritage and historical identity.

Social and Cultural Unity: The folk art of these communities promotes unity and social harmony in the society, which enhances compromise and cohesion among different sections and communities of the society.

Local Economy: The folk art of these communities stimulates their local economy, as it provides employment opportunities for local artists and promotes local businesses.

Self-respect and pride: The folk art of these communities makes them feel self-respect and pride, as it makes them feel proud of their specialty and cultural heritage.

IV. CONCLUSION

Some ideas and solutions to understand the impact of folk arts of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities on society:

Organized workshops and training programs: Organized workshops and training programs can be organized to educate the people of the society about the importance of folk arts of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities.

Formation of community groups: Community groups of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities can be encouraged, which can help in preserving and promoting their folk arts.

Display in local markets and fairs: Local markets and fairs can be organized to showcase folk arts of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities so that people can appreciate and support them.

Use of social media: Folk arts of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities can also be promoted through social media, thereby increasing their knowledge and making their presence felt among the people.

Educational Programs: Educational programs about the folk arts of Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities can be organized in local schools and colleges to make the younger generation aware of their importance. Through these measures and solutions, can help the society understand the importance of the folk arts of the Gond, Bhil, and Baiga communities and be encouraged to support them.

V. BIBLIOGRAPHY

1. Gonds of the Central Indian Highlands: A Study of the Dynamics of Gond Society" by S.C. Roy
2. "The Bhils of Rajasthan: Changing Socio-Economic Structure" by M.K. Bhasin
3. "Tribal Arts and Crafts of Madhya Pradesh: Living Tradition" by S.K. Tiwari and M. Varadarajan

4. "The Bagas: People and Society in Central India" by Kumar Suresh Singh
5. "Tribal Arts and Crafts of Madhya Pradesh" by A. K. Prakash"
6. Gondwana: The History of the Gond Tribes of Orissa" by J.S. Balhar
7. "Bhils of Ratanmal: An Analysis of the Social Structure of a Western Indian Community" by Joan Mencher
8. "The Bhils: An Ethnography" by Kumar Suresh Singh and K.S. Singh"
9. The Bhils: An Ethno-historical Analysis" by K.S. Singh"
10. The Bhil of Rajasthan: A Study of the Mavchi Tribes" by P. V. Jogle

